SGWU holds Middle East forum

A meeting held last night at Sir George Williams University to discuss the Palestine Question elicited a lot of reaction, but few solutions among participants.

Approximately 70 students, including Palestinians and Israelis,

Arabs and Jews, listened to guests Nesar Ahmad, editor of the Daily, and McGill Professor Raafat Jewely evaluate Palestinian-Jewish relations since the founding of Zionism in the late 19th century.

Afterwards familiar themes of Israeli expansionism, Zionist ideology, treatment of Jewish minorities in Arab countries, Arab refugees, etc. threatened to invalidate the future-oriented tone set earlier by Ahmad.

"Theoretically, it should be more possible to hold a rational discussion on the topic here than in the middle East, where tensions are so high," Ahmad told the audience.

According to Ahmad, Zionism would have to disappear as a political force if a basis for a permanent peace in Palestine is to be established. "The essence of the solution lies in establishing a socialist state that recognizes the rights of all the people in the area and devoid of laws like the Israeli Law of Return, which is a special privilege and not a right," he said. The Law of Return provides instant citizenship if desired for all Jews coming to Israel.

Ahmad rejected Zionist interpretations of history and persecution of Jews. Neither, he said, should be separated from the context in which it occurs. This attitude, he noted, promoted a tendency to ignore the existence of Palestinians as a people as much as possible. As a result, the question of a Palestinian-Israeli state became impossible.

"Peace will have to mean a change in attitude to the right to a Jewish state, Jewish character, and Jewish rights," he said. He strongly condemned Arab reactionaries seeking the elimination of the Jewish state by the elimination or removal of Jews from the area. "This solution plays into the hands of the Zionists," he said. Israeli policies thereby become justified on the basis of "survival".

Professor Jewely said that the Israelis should not expect Palestinians to be dismissed from Palestine like caretakers after 2000 years of history there. "If you want to tell Palestinians to forget about their homeland — good luck!" he said.

"I don't know why the Jews have to come from all over the world to live in a place which can't sustain them," one woman commented. Another member of the audience expressed the fear that Zionist ideology could result in a massive immigration of the world's 14 million Jews to Israel.

Other issues of contention included the definition of what a Jew is, and the right of all Jews to emigrate to Palestine. Not surprisingly, the first problem yielded no solution. Ahmad said that he did not accept "historical reasons" as being a sufficient ground for emigrating to Palestine.

The discussion opened in an atmosphere of tension, since a student promoting the meeting was beaten up by 10 self-acclaimed Zionists earlier that day. In additions, posters advertising the event were removed from the university, and the Dean of Students received a phone call, allegedly from the Jewish Defence League, threatening to disrupt the meeting.

Organizers pointed out that in Palestine there was the same type of terrorism, and they added that the nature of Zionism had been revealed at the University.

To be (a candidate) or not to be

About fifty people attended an open meeting of the Students' Society yesterday to discuss the issue of Ze'ev Ionis' candidacy in today's Society elections. Students' Society President Gabor Zinner, who chaired the meeting, explained that it had been called at the request of 300 students who had signed a petition demanding such a meeting. He warned, however, that as the quorum of 300 students had not met, the meeting could not be binding on Students' Council.

The meeting got under way with Ze'ev Ionis outlining what he termed "the interference" of the administration and its "agent", C.R.O. Ed Milewski.

Ionis stated that as Milewski had disqualified him, he was "siding" with Principal Bell against the interests of McGill students.

Ionis' second complaint was that the administration had sent security forces to harass Popular Student Front (PSF) supporters on campus. Ionis, however failed to cite specific instances of this.

Ionis then asked that the debate be centred on "who decides who can be President?"

One student felt that since McGill is a private institution headed by Principal Bell, if he decides that Ze'ev Ionis is no longer a student, then Ionis cannot run. This woman further said that while it was sad, it was a fact that McGill does not belong to the students, but "rather to the Bronfmans, the Molsons, and the Redpaths."

Ionis answered that just because "Principal Bell has a decree dating back to King George IV", there was no reason why students could not make decisions of this nature.

The student answered that since Bell had suspended Ionis long before the elections, it was obvious that Bell could not have anticipated that he would be affecting the students' choices.

Another student said that Ionis was not a student "in good standing," and therefore, according to the Students' Society constitution, he was not eligible to run. The student maintained that there was nothing more to the issue than that.

Ionis answered that he felt anyone, student or not, could run for President; if the students wanted him, they would vote for him.

The discussion continued until 2 pm when Ionis asked that a vote be taken on the PSF resolution, which demanded that Ze'ev Ionis be reinstated as a candidate. Zinner agreed to this, after stressing that the vote was not official in any way. With all parties agreeing to this, the vote was taken through a show of hands. The PSF resolution was defeated 13 to 9.

Engineering week

A sober engineer is a rare sight these days. The reason is Engineering Week, a week of activities and beer drinking sponsored by the Heidelberg Brewery. Indeed, many may have noticed their musical truck roaming around campus since Monday, filling the air with off-tuned music from the forties.

Several activities have been scheduled in addition to the beer drinking. Engineers can be seen in the common room of the McConnell Engineering Building, participating in the week-long chess tournament. Yesterday there was a wine and cheese party, with beer thrown in for free. An added feature was the "Profs' Raft", a debate among various professors who attempt to convince participants that their department is better than the others. Quite absurd!

Today, there are numerous other exciting activities in store for the engineers. At noon there will be a banana eating contest, followed by a "Roman Relay" at 1 pm and a free Matinée Movie.

Thursday should be even more breath-taking, with an egg-throwing contest and a tug of war scheduled for noon, on the lower campus.

Friday is the last day of Engineering Week. A "race to the Manse" and a 'Brew Bash' (with boat races and a live show!) are planned by the organisers. One of the highlights of Engineering Week is bound to be the 'Rip-Off Contest! To win $150, all an engineer has to do is rip off something from another University or from the Union. Entries close March 2 and no bail fund is being set up by the organisers, so beware.

The medical profession has solved the problems of poverty, malnutrition and ill-health: "Cheer up with a glass of champagne every morning." Well, this beats "mange la merde," but you need food too, and, as this is becoming scarce and priceless while politicians blunder merrily along, you will have to subsist on all that gold you've been hoarding.

My recipe today is the Goldstone cocktail, named for the famous U.S. rocket (both will get you to a new high). Convert your gold bullion to chloride with aqua regia, then add to your champagne, (which will turn the color of piss, but don't let that deter you). This will cure your arthritis, but if it kills you, at least you'll have "made it" by dying rich and in style—the only way to go yet take it with you.

Better than starving on welfare.

True confessions

Sir,

You had kindly allowed me the use of your columns to denounce the religious Zionism of McGill Christian Fellowship, a body about which I knew next to nothing except that they called themselves Christian. I feel even more compelled to denounce Zionist-inspired racism on the part of some members of my own Church, the Roman Catholic, here at McGill. The congregation at the Newman Catholic Chaplaincy uses at Mass a mimeographed sheet which includes the following hymn:

"Turn around and go back down back the way you came Babylon is laid to waste
Egypt's buried in her shame."

I would suggest that the last line is a vulgar racist slogan which should have no place in a supposedly Christian service. The ancient city of Babylon is in ruins and few people would connect it with modern Iraq.

There is however a country called Egypt. There are Egyptian students at McGill. Most of them are Muslims or Orthodox Copts, but there may be one or two Catholics among them. Why insult them! I will be told that the line refers to ancient, not to modern Egypt. Well, what was so shameful about the most ancient civilization in the world? Oh, it's in the Bible. Where exactly? The last time Egypt is mentioned in the Bible is in the Gospel when Jesus had to seek refuge in Egypt from the tyranny of Herod. (Today Jesus's countrymen are forced to seek refuge in Egypt and other neighbouring countries from the modern, Zionist Herod). Perhaps it is from the Old Testament? I would appreciate the exact location.

Anyway there are many passages in the Old Testament which are just incompatible with Christianity. Among them are the racist abuses thrown at the sons of Ham and other neighbours of Israel, a racism revived by the Zionists today. Oh, we don't mean it really, we're just singing. If the words used in a Catholic service are a meaningless mumbo-jumbo, why have it in English, why not stick to good old Latin? Nobody would understand and nobody would mind.

Suppose we substitute another name for Egypt? For example "Israel's buried in her shame"? When I was a kid I was taught in my religious instruction class that the Jews were an accursed people and that their sufferings at the hands of the Nazis were a divine punishment for their participation in the crucifixion of Christ. Only recently we prayed "for the perfidious Jews" (emphasis mine) in the Good Friday liturgy. Thank God the Pope has at last thrown out all this theology of mystical anti-Semitism.

Now we go in the opposite direction: from mystical anti-Semitism to mystical Zionism. The Zionist State of Israel is a fulfillment of Biblical prophecies. We are not allowed to say anything which may offend Zionism or Israel, either in church or elsewhere. But we can throw all the abuse we like on Egypt and the other Arabic-speaking countries. In fact thanks to Zionist propaganda it has become fashionable to do so. Most Zionists are atheists, but they know how to use the Bible to get Christian support. I am sure the Newman students who sing this hymn do not hate the Egyptians. But they are victims of Zionist propaganda which has penetrated all Western Christianity. Next time Zionists bomb Egypt their reaction will be "It's O.K. Egypt's buried in her shame."

Sir, you have supported the Montréal Italian community in their struggle against their tyrant priests who have turned a house of prayer into a den of thieves. I believe it is the duty of every practising Catholic to denounce the exploitation carried out in the name of religion at Consolata as well as the Zionist-racist hymns sung at the Newman.

CAMPUS COMMENTS Special to C.U.P.

Northampton, Mass. — Educators at Smith College believe in practical education. Special courses are now being offered at the woman's school to prove that knowledge divorced from living is no longer the ideal of higher education. Among the practical courses are: Photography for candid camera fans, horticulture for amateur gardeners, and nautical astronomy for would-be navigators. Other hobby courses offered are such unrelated subjects as gem-cutting, puppet designing and various architectural pursuits. One of the most popular activities at Smith College is the Flying Club, numbering 46 air-minded girls. Six of the clubbers have become licensed pilots. The president of the club, Elizabeth Hooker of Baltimore, is said to have obtained her solo licence in one of the shortest times ever listed for a woman.

PLATFORM

SINCE this is not an election in St. Henry Constituency, I am not going to promise that, if elected, I shall fill up the big hole on Dorchester street, nor the Campus hollow, nor can I guarantee a championship football team next fall. I only wish I could. Therefore, I shall restrict myself to a simple statement of fact—what will be attempted, and what may be achieved. In a platform of this kind it would be futile for a candidate for the presidency of the Students' Society to make promises which by the very nature of things it would be impossible to fulfil. Consequently this platform must necessarily be considered merely as my personal ideas on certain phases of undergraduate life that I feel merit some definite attention.

PLATFORM

IT has been often said that an election platform is futile because the President of the Students' Society is compelled to comply with a majority vote. Nevertheless, as Chairman of the Students' Council, the President has influence in guiding its policy and decisions, and his ideas, therefore, should be brought before the student body in his election platform.

The basis of my platform is:
(1) A Greater Co-ordination between the Students' Council and the Student Body, and
(2) A Greater Emphasis on Inter-Faculty Athletics.

In conjunction with the above I submit the following recommendations pertaining to the Students' Executive Council and the Students' Athletic Council:

TICKET sales which took a considerable jump yesterday were amply justified by the final dress rehearsal that went on the boards of Moyse Hall last night. Skits have been polished, singers rehearsed their numbers time and again, choruses have been drilled until the girls nearly collapsed, tap-dancers and solo dancers have brought their acts to the peak and minor difficulties of lighting, makeup and costumes have been ironed out for the show opens tonight at eight-thirty.

Madeleine Saint-Martin's number, which she sings with John Fraser, the Caroline sing-bird, was cheered to the echo by the other members of the cast. U of T math students occupy office

TORONTO (CUP) — Less than a hundred students are continuing to occupy the University of Toronto's Mathematics department office while administrators quibble over the establishment of a parity student-faculty committee to discuss student complaints concerning their lack of participation in departmental staffing decisions.

In any event, the sit-in's continuity committee has called a rally for noon today to determine future action. If the negotiating committee does get set up, students will push for it to report before the rally ends.

Students have been mobilizing over the firing of three popular Math professors and over the department chairman's refusal to include students on the committee making staffing decisions.

Math students collected more than 1,000 names on a petition demanding that the professors be rehired and that students sit on the department's staffing committee. Separate petitions calling for the reinstatement of all three profs have been signed by nearly all their students.

On February 20, Math students heard Math department chairman George Duff insist that teaching was not the only responsibility professors had. He cited research and public service as two other considerations.

He also dismissed students' praise for the faculty, saying that "students rate highest those teachers from whom they learn the least."

The students then gave Duff a week in which to reply to their demands. This time was up at 11 am last Monday, and Duff attended a rally in the foyer of the main arts and science building supposedly to give his answer. Instead, he began a rambling discourse on teaching limitations within the department.

Finally, students insisted that he stop evading the issue and answer their demands. Duff then refused to comment on whether he would rescind the firings and sidestepped the committee question by claiming that university policy excluded student participation.

Late last week, however, university vice president and provost Don Forster told Sociology department head Irving Zeitlin that students could sit on that department's staffing committee, since all departmental committees are merely advisory to the chairman and therefore not subject to the guidelines.

Arts and science dean Bob Green said last Monday that he doubted anyone other than Duff could reverse the firing decisions. He maintained that both he and university president John Evans were unable to interfere.

BOARD OF GOVERNORS

John Donahue

BSc Class 68

John, has returned to McGill after a five year absence to pursue a career in medicine. He has developed considerable business acumen: functioning as a financial analyst for a major insurance corporation, and secondly as a business manager for a cartel of consumer goods manufacturers and promoters.

It is this committee's opinion that he can best represent such an antithetical group as the students of McGill University. His diversified corporate experiences will allow him to deal knowledgeably with an insular and unequivocal Board of Governors.

He says:

"I find it incomprehensible that students bethey can elicit decisions favourable to their specific interests by claiming a privileged position of "student" the Board of Governors is no more interested in bestowing privileged status to students than relinquish its pervasive influence in university affairs.

It's time we had some action. I for one have no intention of remaining on the sidelines."

THE COMMITTEE FOR THE ELECTION OF JOHN DONAHUE TO THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS

Kim Fong

For the last few years, we have only had token representation on the Board of Governors. Basically it has proved ineffective. The Student Governors have limited themselves to very quiet opposition and have become more or less a rubber stamp for student participation. Recent issues such as the struggle of students and workers for a Day Care Center and the pending dismissal of the Political Science Professor Pauline Vaillancourt on political grounds and not academic reasons, underline how ineffective the student Governors have been in representing the views of their students.

I AM AN ACTIVE STUDENT CONCERNED WITH STUDENT AFFAIRS BUT I AM NOT A STUDENT POLITICIAN.

I know that I am quite capable of being YOUR undergraduate representative to the Board of Governors. Therefore if elected to the Board of Governors I will:

- * Obtain a more meaningful representation on the Board of Governors
- * Act as a loud spokesman in the running of the affairs of the university especially those which affect the students
- * Represent the students in their struggle against the Administration's Dominant position over student affairs.

PLATFORM: This is the first time that there has been student representation on the Board of Governors. This group is the policy-making body of MCGILL. It is composed primarily of corporate executives who are far out of touch with student needs. Student opinion must be voiced by a representatives who has great experience dealing with MCGILL's educational hierarchy, a qualification which I have gained through working on numerous committees concerned with the quality of education.

As your representative, I will attempt to direct the board towards supporting RELEVANT and innovative programs of study. I will provide the voice necessary to make the members of the Board of Governors clearly aware of the needs and aspirations of the students it is supposed to serve!

For much too long, most student representatives have promised much and delivered nothing. This is our first opportunity to elect a representative to the Board of Governors, coming at a time when student self-government has been the subject of much criticism due to seeming ineptness. We must therefore ensure that the successful candidate has already fully demonstrated his ability and intentions with regard to effective representation of our interests, irrespective of his own. Given my past record, I believe that I have proven that I am such a person. As such, I know I can responsibly and diligently represent the campus interests to the Administration, at the same time continually reporting back to you for feedback.

If you are as concerned as I am, I hope you will vote for me on February 28th. Thank you.

SENATE STUDENT REPS

We have long realized that our representation on university bodies, such as Senate, is merely token. Our role has been kept to one of auditing: decision-making and implementation take place in different bodies at different levels-scattered student representation can hardly constitute an effective force in the midst of this. So why should we persist in playing power politics with the Administration in accordance with their scenario? Our representation has been ineffective because we have been reacting to developments which, in the majority of cases, have been merely technical adjustments to an oppressive structure that in reality needs many changes. Courses and programs must be examined, rethought and restructured. New programs must be initiated which will be geared to students' needs and interests, and not to an obsolete conception of education. Most of all education must relate to the fact that students have realized that the walls of the university do not limit the scope of thought and action. How can this be achieved if student representation is supposed to be (by definition) ineffectual? I believe this can only be achieved if Council Members, Senate Members and Senate Committee Members establish a framework for co-ordinated study and action to be able initiate significant developments and to pressure them through.

The Senate is the single most important body at McGill. The power and control exercised by it extends over every aspect of university life. Arts students have provided with only one representative on Senate. Therefore, the importance of electing an effective voice is clear.
The chief purpose of a Student Senator is twofold:

- 1 - To protect and ensure the respect of Senate for the rights of students it presently recognizes.
 - 2 - To actively seek to increase Senate recognition of rights of students. Among the top priorities are:
 - the necessity of establishing a discount bookstore
 - the desire for the extension of library hours
 - the need for day care facilities for students with children
 - the urgent need for increasing the present token student representation on Senate.
- There are all issues for which STEPHEN FOGARTY will fight.
In order to ensure that the views of his fellow Arts students are accurately presented to Senate, STEPHEN FOGARTY will initiate open meetings to receive proposals from students and relate the events of Senate to them, as well as holding office hours of private discussion.

Anyone can make promises. STEPHEN FOGARTY will work until they are implemented. Take the first step towards a more democratic university:
on Wednesday February 28 vote STEPHEN FOGARTY for Arts Student Senator - committee to elect FOGARTY Senator.

Or it can make a clear and definite break with its inglorious past, reorganize as an institution which derives its authority from the masses of the students, and stand up and fight."

27. The P.S.F. executive slate will be guided by the following principles:
 - 1) The students have the right to democratically determine their own affairs, and no one has the right to interfere;
 - 2) It is just to oppose fascism, racism and imperialism and to organize against these evils;
 - 3) There should be democratic contention of ideas among the students, and no one trend should arbitrarily monopolize everything;
 - 4) It is just to be open and above-board in student affairs and unjust to intrigue and conspire.

Experiences:
Secretary of Engineering Undergraduate Society 72-73
Student Representative on Departmental Committees
Member of Phi Epsilon Alpha, Eng. Honour Society
Platform:
The student Senator provides a highly important liaison between the students and the university governing body. As a Senator, I will undertake to communicate student opinions to Senate and inform the students of Senate decisions.

I will be directly responsible to the engineering students. On the question of secession of the EUS from the Students Society, the Senate has the power to grant the EUS fiscal autonomy only if the student Senators present a united front. If the engineering students want to secede, I will present the issue to Senate and fight for the complete fiscal autonomy of the EUS.

The student Senator represents the students at the top level of administration of the University. I am prepared to work hard and with determination to fulfill the responsibilities of this position.

Platform:
● As promised last year, a review of the majors programme was effected. It is possible that our majors programme may be expanded and it is highly probable that the academic policy committee will approve our request for diploma certification of completed core programmes, something not presently done.

● Bookstore Reform - publication of required texts several weeks before classes and their guaranteed availability to reduce historical confusion.

● Investigation into the possible introduction of small entrepreneurial courses in the faculty; many students who intend to go into business for themselves are equipped with little requisite knowledge of how to succeed in a world of conglomerates.

● With emphasis on Viable and Relevant issues, I stand on my record of the past year and offer you dedication, responsibility and experience in the Senate and in the Faculty so as to better represent You on the highest academic body in McGill.

2. To take greater advantage of S.B.B. such as extending the present closing hours.

3. To investigate the possibility of getting a greater return of your own contribution to S.S. until the day we can manage our own affairs.
4. The stronghold of this platform is what YOU, the individual, believes should be done.

SCIENCE SENATE

The academic reputation of McGill University is on the decline. This must be stopped; McGill must again rank with the top schools on the continent. As Science students, we are affected, probably, more than any other faculty by the value of a McGill University degree. The McGill B.Sc. has in the past helped in opening the doors to the best graduate schools in North America. The McGill degree has lost its strength. Why?

Should McGill promote itself on the radio? Is the Administration selling us out? I, Robert Blake, do not believe that we should play the role of the Administration's pawn in securing future income while sacrificing the quality of the student body. Will we let our future be rallied away?

Robert Gurman

SCIENCE SENATE

The purpose of the Students' Society is to aid the students and to help get them involved in the many activities that McGill has to offer and not for the few individuals who abuse their position, that of expressing the views of the students. I shall endeavor to bring the students and the Students' Society closer together.

Will work in close co-operation with a science Undergraduate Society to present a unified and consistent student stand on departmental, faculty, and university-wide issues.
Will continue to make available all forms of communication between myself and students.

Accomplishments:
Doubled student representation on Senate from 7 to 15.
Got student representation to the Board of Governors.
Got student parity on all committees directly related to students.
Got students on University Budgetary Committees.

Anyone can provide you with campaign slogans, but the ability to represent the students of this faculty in an effective way is what is important.

This year the A.S.U.S. will have a budget of over $50,000. This is far too much money for one campus group to have. Sue Ackerman, current President, and Mike Miloff, current Secretary, have told me repeatedly that there is too much work to do. Somewhere in the shuffle of all this work Science clubs have been ripped off again and again. Their budgets have been cut in half or more year after year. For these reasons and others I am completely in support of the movement to create a separate Science Undergraduate Society. If the ASUS is not split, I stand for returning the money to legitimate student activities instead of spending thousands and thousands of dollars to print irrational political tracts. The Free Press, controlled by Liberation School, is a perfect example of such waste. Students should be able to read creative writing, news of Department struggles, and current news items of interest to McGill students. Marlene Dixon is not a student. I also stand for spending money on activities which attract wide interest, such as Pub Nights, money for Day Care, etc., which so far have been completely ignored by the ASUS. I support all students who like to get pissed. The Secretary's job is to keep notes and look after the various files. They are currently in a colossal mess. I will clean them up and let any student look at them any time.

The amount of money that has been spent by A.S.U.S. over the last several years is a very large figure indeed. The fact that the projected budget for this year is in excess of $50,000 points to the importance of having competent people on the executive. In studying the budget one finds that the majority of the funds have not been spent on the sort of things that the average student is interested in. The gap that exists between the amount of money allotted to Science Club budgets in comparison to Arts has grown year by year. A.S.U.S. has not met the social needs of the students in sponsoring dances, pub nights, and other cultural activities that involve a large number of students. The A.S.U.S. newspaper, The Free Press, is in no way meeting the needs for the services that it was supposed to provide.

I propose to bring A.S.U.S. back to the students by involving it in campus activities. The secession of the Science students must be supported. A.S.U.S. has failed to meet their needs. Don't waste your vote on Wednesday, vote ASUS back to campus.

I am running as a supporter of the PSF Program. Two other supporters of this Program have had their names arbitrarily removed from the ballots: Ze'ev Ionis, PSF candidate for President of the Students' Society, and Bob Wallace, running for President of the ASUS. This is just one of the many attempts student bureaucrats have made to persecute the PSF. Ze'ev Ionis and Bob Wallace are definitely running. This pensketch, which contains excerpts from the PSF Program, is theirs as well as mine:

"1. Throughout its entire 65 year history, the Students' Society of McGill University has served as the agent of the Administration among the students... There are two alternative and opposing roads facing the Students' Society today. It can go in the traditional pattern

I am running on a slate with Shelley Brown and Elizabeth Gluckstal to work for an OPEN ASUS. As Secretary, I will do the utmost to supply information and aid to all members of the ASUS. This means: advertising location and time of meetings in advance; publication of the budget and minutes; revision of the present ASUS Constitution; course evaluation guide; ASUS week to acquaint students with their undergraduate society. As a member of the ASUS executive, I will support: more money to clubs; an open Free Press which will be accessible to any group which has the resources to produce an issue; parity for Arts and Science students on Senate; Science Journal; improved cafeteria services for both Arts and Science students; day care services for the McGill Community.

Shelley Brown

I am running with Elizabeth Gluckstal and Ellen Waxman to work for an OPEN A.S.U.S. As Arts Vice President, I will work towards lessening the alienation of students within the A.S.U.S. and in relation to the executive. I propose to:

- work closely with the Science Vice President and students;
 - advertise the budget, minutes and meetings;
 - revision of the present Constitution;
 - organize a discount bookstore;
 - expand the tutorial service;
 - establish a Science Journal;
 - improve cafeteria services
- As a member of A.S.U.S., I will support:
- more money to clubs
 - an open Free Press accessible to any group who has the resources to publish an issue;
 - parity for Arts and Science students on Senate;
 - day care services for the McGill community
 - course evaluation guide.

Michael Sterlin

Arts Vice-President

Platform:

- I will strive to maintain a united ASUS, to equally serve the needs of both Arts and Science students.
- The Great Bookstore Rip-Off must be ended. Twice a year, we stand in line for hours to pay outrageous prices for textbooks. The Bookstore should be a student service. Pressure will be exerted on the Administration to lower prices of books to at least moderate levels.
- If necessary, we will establish a separate, non-profit Arts and Science Bookstore to compete with the McGill Bookstore.

- I will initiate an Arts and Science used book sale at the beginning of each term.
 - The successful ASUS tutoring service will be continued, but will be made free for Arts and Science students!
- The ASUS cannot hope to represent its members or implement their wishes if not even six percent of its members cast their ballots on Election Day. So, ON FEBRUARY 28, VOTE!

There isn't much that a first year representative on the ASUS can do, except try to get across what he feels the needs and wants of first year students really are. As a science student, it is my feeling that splitting of the ASUS would be counter-productive, and would only serve to create unnecessary divisions among students. But adequate representation of Science students is necessary, and more attention should be paid to the specific needs of Science students.

The ASUS can promote much more activity at McGill than it has in the past, and greater expenditures on ASUS clubs is necessary. The Free Press should become more open and accessible to students, thus providing for a much more varied and interesting newspaper.

Above all, I will work to provide E1 students with honest, active representation, and I will work for an active, open ASUS.

John M. Robertson

B.A. E1 (History & Economics)

Howdy. Although I have entered this campaign at a late stage that fact does in no way reflect upon my interest in becoming the E1-E2 representative to ASUS. E1 students at McGill are in a particularly vulnerable position in relation to the rest of the University. Therefore I will work to make McGill a place that students can call "Home". I feel that in its present condition the needs of the commuter students are not being met by the University. More extra-curricular activities are needed to "bring us together". My only experience up to date has been that of valedictorian of my seventh grade class, but I look upon this as a help not a hindrance in my campaign. I hope that you will give me your support on election day. Just for the record, I'm not related to that notorious sports writer for the Montreal Star, although I have written for the McGill Daily.

Annalee Yassie

Annalee Yassie was a representative on ASUS last year. It is essential for Science students to be represented on ASUS if it is to meet the needs and interests of both arts and science students. Improved cafeteria services, a Free Press which will be of interest to students in both faculties, and more programs which are both of interest to arts and science students are mandatory. As a member of ASUS Annalee has attempted to make it as responsive to students as possible and believes that we should explore the role of science in our society. The ASUS is not just a social club — it must be responsible to the needs of a much larger community.
